Abstract:

In this session we will explore several new and innovative Web 2.0 technologies. We'll look at free online tools that allow users to create non-linear multimedia presentations (Prezi), web-based forms (Google Forms), interactive mind maps (Webspiration), and both web sites and web widgets that support interactivity and multimedia (Wix). We will also discuss how these technologies are being used to support teaching and learning at Miami University.

Presenter Bio:

Andrea Han is the Educational Technology Coordinator at Miami University's Middletown Campus. She also serves on the ASCUE board.
